

Cambodia: UN Secretary-General calls for respect of human rights and expansion of civic freedoms in Cambodia during his official visit

Article 12 Nov 2022

Cambodia: Factory suspends unionists after their attempt to form a union

Article 11 Nov 2022

COP27: Pacific Indigenous activists say they are being neglected & pushed aside

Article 11 Nov 2022

Egypt: Political prisoner Alaa Abd el-Fattah continues to be denied visit by lawyer during climate summit

Article 11 Nov 2022

While you're here, could you support our work?

COP27: International Indigenous Peoples Forum on Climate Change urges States to respect and promote rights of Indigenous Peoples in climate action

Article 11 Nov 2022

COP27: Coalition demands recognition & incorporation by UNFCCC and state parties of the role of defenders in facing climate crisis

Article 11 Nov 2022

Progressing the proposed EU Regulation on prohibiting products made with forced labour: A Model Law

Article 11 Nov 2022

COP27: BP chief listed as delegate for Mauritania

Article 11 Nov 2022

Explore more →

Read our weekly news summary →

Article

Azerbaijan's corruption scheme scandal raises concerns over EU's growing business ties with authoritarian regime, says watchdog

"Azerbaijan's Laundromat scandal raises concerns over the EU's growing business ties with the authoritarian regime", 6 September 2017

Adding up to the list of shady practices of Azerbaijan's authoritarian regime the Azerbaijani Laundromat corruption scheme raises serious concerns over the EU's intensifying relationship with the government in Baku. In particular, the latest revelations, cast even more doubts over the already controversial Southern Gas Corridor, the largest energy project the EU is currently pursuing together with Baku...The Azerbaijani regime has long been cracking down on journalists, civil society members and political proponents. The new revelations add to several earlier corruption cases allegedly enabled by Azerbaijani money...Yet, the EU is worryingly reinforcing the bond with Azerbaijan, ready to turn a blind eye to the country's human rights abuses and offer loans of millions of euros to a massive gas infrastructure project that would fill the pockets of the Azerbaijani corrupted elite.

13 Sep 2017
CEE Bankwatch
Network

Oil, gas & coal

Azerbaijan

Freedom of Expression,
European Union

Share

Read more

